If Beranger thinks it necessary to think that he has been useful, others may well think so too: let us accept the heavy doctrine of hard labor; there is no other way to heave off the rubbish of this world. The mode in which Beranger is anxious to prove that he made his genius of use, is by diffusing a taste for liberty and expressing an enthusiasm for it; and also, as we suppose, by quizzing those rulers of France who have not shared either the taste or the enthusiasm. Although, however, such may be the idea of the poet himself, posterity will scarcely confirm it. Political satire is the most ephemeral kind of literature. The circumstances to which it applies are local and temporary; the persons to whom it applies die. A very few months will make unintelligible what was at first strikingly...
