Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Nativity and Adoration Cycle of the Chester Mysteries, as Performed in New York on Christmas Eve at the Greenwich Village Theatre Only within very recent years have workers in the theatre come to realize the dramatic values of the mediaeval religious plays. For many decades they have been available in the publications of learned societies but the tendency has been to regard them as mere curiosities and valuable only as university texts for the study of the so-called pre-Shakespearean drama. With the modern revaluation in the theatre has come a renewed interest in the communal plays of a simpler age and dramatic experiment has justified the research. It is only to be expected that among a people whose community centre was the church, these plays should be religious in their subject matter. It is further to be expected that arising directly out of the community life of non-professional players they should be festival plays keeping step with the rhythm of the seasons. The unexpected thing about them is the dramatic merit which they reveal,...
