Excerpt: .Colonies are rapidly growing in population and rising in commercial importance; and, if they cannot be brought nearer to us, it must be a subject of congratulation to them, as well as to ourselves, that our mutual communications will now be accelerated. The Parliamentary Committee on Steam Communication with India, China, and Australia, have decided in favour of the route via the Cape of Good Hope, as being, for the present, the most eligible for postal communications with our Southern Colonies. This, therefore, there is every reason to believe, will be the line adopted, and in coming to this decision the Committee steadfastly kept in view four essential points, viz., speed, combined with the certainty of communications out and home; accommodation and moderate rates of fares; capabilities and cheapness in the transmission of merchandize, and security, as far as possible, consequent upon lines through foreign countries. Against the Indian route the inconvenience of three transshipments, the casualties and tediousness of the overland journey to Suez, accompanied by additional charges to passengers, and the impossibility of using this line for the conveyance of merchandize, were considered as insuperable objections. The present average time for conveying letters to and from Australia, by sailing vessels, is 275 days, which by the Cape route will be reduced to 135, while by that of Panama it could not be brought lower than 133, or the one by Singapore to less than 109. Under all circumstances it is expected that this...
